Possible Amendment to Rules Concerning White Pages Directory Publication and Distribution

MPUC Docket No. P-999/R-13-459

CENTURYLINK'S COMMENTS

INTRODUCTION

CenturyLink submits these comments in response to the Commission's Request for Comments on proposed changes to its rules governing the publication and distribution of white pages directories (Minn. Rules 7810.2900, 7811.0600 and 7812.0600). CenturyLink supports modifications to the existing rules for the purpose of allowing the carrier to determine the best method for delivering directory information to its customers. With some minor modifications, CenturyLink supports the proposed rules included in the Request for Comments.

DISCUSSION

CenturyLink largely supports the modifications proposed by the Commission and proposes modifications to them that offer clarification and also provide companies with the flexibility to determine the best method of delivering directory information to their customers.

In Proposed Rule 7810.2900, Subp 1, a company is required to provide telephone directories that contain:

. . . each customer's name, telephone number, and, if practical, address, except they shall not contain public telephone numbers or telephone numbers that are unlisted at the customer's request.

Local Service Provider practices regarding the treatment of telephone numbers customers choose to treat as private vary significantly. The proposed rule may give customers the impression that they need only inform the Local Service Provider of their desire to exclude their information from a directory. CenturyLink does offer customers several alternatives by which to address privacy concerns that generally also involve some cost to the customer. The proposed Rule as drafted could mislead a customer into assuming they need only inform the Local Service Provider of the privacy request in order to ensure their information is excluded from any directory publication.

We suggest modifying the proposed language as follows:

Telephone directories shall be regularly compiled and shall contain each customer's name, telephone number, and, if practical, address, except they shall not contain non-published public telephone numbers ~~or telephone numbers that are unlisted at the customer's request~~. Upon issuance, a local service provider shall distribute to all customers served by that directory a complete directory consistent with the customer option provisions of Rule 7810.2950. Upon commission request, a local service provider shall furnish to the commission a copy of each directory issued, whether printed or electronic.

An additional modification requested by CenturyLink is related to the proposed customer notice requirement. Proposed Rule 7810.2950. Subp. 1.A, requires that the local service provider conduct a customer survey regarding customer directory format preference prior to any format change. This requirement is vague, restrictive and potentially expensive to implement. Instead, we suggest that the Commission provide companies with the flexibility to determine the best method for giving customers the choice of directory format.

We suggest modifying the language as follows:

A. ~~conduct an initial survey of~~ use its discretion to determine a process to allow existing customers to identify their directory format preference prior to any directory format change;

Proposed Rule 7810.2950. Subp. 1.D, imposes requirements related to annual notice of directory preferences and the opportunity to modify that election. CenturyLink does not oppose this requirement, but is concerned that disputes could arise. For example, does the notice need to be included in a bill insert? Should it be included in a separate mailing? Should it be electronic? What should it say? CenturyLink proposes modified language that gives the company the option to determine the best method for establishing customer preference:

D. use its discretion on how to best notify customers of their directory format preference and how to modify that preference; annually notify customers of the directory format preference on record and how to change it;

CenturyLink respectfully suggests that companies should be given the flexibility to implement this requirement in the manner they deem appropriate and allow the marketplace to sort out the effectiveness of those efforts.

In addition to its specific rule modifications the Commission has requested that commenter's address three additional questions. The first asks whether the Commission should establish by rule whether electronically published directories should be accessible to the public or to a limited class of persons such as customers. CenturyLink agrees with the working draft that this determination should be left to the discretion of the local service provider and should not be mandated by rule.

In its second question, the Commission queries whether it should establish by rule the "default" format of directories that will be provided to customers who do not indicate a directory preference to their local service provider. CenturyLink agrees with the position stated in the working draft that the decision regarding directory format should be left to the discretion of the local service provider.

The third question posed by the Commission asks whether the Commission's rule should distinguish between the content or format of directories provided to business and residential customers. CenturyLink supports the position stated in the working draft that the local service provider may specify the directory format and also may use its discretion to select either the print or electronic format of the directory if the customer does not indicate a preference.

CONCLUSION

CenturyLink appreciates the opportunity to provide input on these proposed rules and recommends the Commission adopt them with the modifications it has suggested.

Dated this 6th day of December, 2013.
