we're at a point in our lives to enjoy everything we've invested in our place. I'm handicapped, so we made a trail in our woods for me to use to be able to walk on + be protected from the wind. I walk 3 times a day.

The power lines would tower over our house, instead of taking away our woods/walk path, you could go 500 ft more north of our place, closer to the swamp. With your going thru anyway, on the west end.

This would save our woods (walking trail - Wildlife Privacy). We wouldn't be forced to move. (Please Consider This)

Thank you!
