STIPULATED FINDINGS OF FACT

I. The Parties

1. Dakota Electric Association was founded in 1937 as a non-profit, member-owned distribution electric utility. It serves approximately 115,000 members in an area covering much of Dakota County, just south of Minneapolis and St. Paul. Dakota Electric also provides electric service in portions of Scott, Rice, and Goodhue counties.<sup>6</sup>

2. Dakota Electric is a distribution utility. It does not generate electricity or own any high voltage transmission lines. Instead, it purchases wholesale power and related transmission services from Great River Energy (GRE), located in Maple Grove, Minnesota.<sup>7</sup>

3. Dakota Electric has a 12-person elected board of directors made up of members governs the Cooperative. It is also regulated by the Commission and is the only rate-regulated electric cooperative in Minnesota.<sup>8</sup>

4. The Department is a state agency charged by the legislature with enforcing Minnesota Statutes chapters 216A, 216B, and 237, and represents the interests of all ratepayers in related proceedings.<sup>9</sup>

5. The OAG is authorized by the legislature to intervene in Commission proceedings to further “the interests of residential and small business utility consumers” in matters touching upon a public utility’s rates or adequacy of service to residential or small business utility consumers.<sup>10</sup>

II. Procedural Background

6. Dakota Electric initiated this proceeding on December 30, 2024, requesting authority to increase rates for electric service. Dakota Electric requested a $23.8 million or 11% annual increase based on a rate of return on rate base of 5.30%.<sup>11</sup>

III. Overview of the Cooperative's Application to Increase Rates

18. In its Initial Filing, Dakota Electric requested an overall revenue increase of $23,811,597, or 11%, based on a 2023 test year, adjusted for known and measurable changes and using an overall rate of return of 5.30%.<sup>28</sup>

19. The Cooperative determined its proposed revenue increase by calculating its overall revenue requirement for the adjusted test year (equal to operating expense plus margin requirement) and comparing that to its revenues under current rates for the adjusted test year.<sup>29</sup>

20. To determine the appropriate level of margin, Dakota Electric used a calculation methodology for rate of return endorsed by the Commission in 1976 and used by Dakota Electric in its prior rate cases, including its most recent rate case, Docket No. E111/GR-19-478.<sup>30</sup> Given the unique nature of a cooperative, such as Dakota Electric, the rate of return is related to the retirement, or rotation, of patronage capital, rather than determining the rate of return required by an investor, as is done for investor-owned utilities.<sup>31</sup> For a cooperative, that means calculating a rate of return that provides sufficient margins to: (1) pay interest expense on long-term debt; (2) rotate patronage capital as stated in the policy of the cooperative; and (3) maintain or achieve the desired equity position, while meeting the financial covenants of the cooperative's lenders.<sup>32</sup>

21. In Direct Testimony, Dakota Electric proposed a rate of return on rate base of 5.30% based on the Commission-approved methodology for calculating return on rate base for a cooperative.<sup>33</sup>

22. The Cooperative also provided a Class Cost of Service Study (CCOSS) aimed at identifying the cost responsibility of each rate class, using a fully allocated average embedded approach. Dakota Electric developed the CCOSS based on a minimum system study to classify specified distribution accounts, incorporating a demand adjustment.<sup>34</sup>

23. Dakota Electric provided several additional cost analyses, which were used to inform its rate design recommendations, including<sup>35</sup>:

- Load Management Cost Analysis,<sup>36</sup>
- Monthly Fixed Charge Analysis,<sup>37</sup>
- Coincidental Demand Charges,<sup>38</sup>
- Special Fees and Charges,<sup>39</sup>

27. Thirteen members of the public provided oral comments, including questions, at the public hearings: two people spoke at the virtual hearing; eight people spoke at the Apple Valley hearing; and three people spoke at the Rosemount hearing. In general, commenters raised concerns regarding the communication of the public hearing process,<sup>49</sup> interim rate increases,<sup>50</sup> and overall notification of the Cooperative's rate request.<sup>51</sup> They also raised concerns regarding the proposed rate increase,<sup>52</sup> residential customers' ability to absorb the Cooperative's proposal,<sup>53</sup> and questioned the factors driving the rate increase and the ratemaking process.<sup>54</sup>

28. The following comments were received at the May 6, 2025 virtual public hearing held via Webex:<sup>55</sup>

- Bill Watkins, a Dakota Electric customer since 2003, inquired about how the proposed rate increase will be applied, especially for electric vehicles.<sup>56</sup> He also inquired about the increase in on- and off-peak electricity rates and whether the interim rate increase would be applied as a flat kilowatt fee or proportionally, expressing concern that a flat interim rate charge would disproportionately impact users who rely on off-peak electricity.<sup>57</sup>
- Mary Nell Zellner asked questions about the increase in on- and off-peak electricity rates.<sup>58</sup> She commented that not everyone was able to move their schedules or adjust schedules to complete tasks during off-peak hours and felt there was a question about fairness.<sup>59</sup> She asked about the process for determining "a fair number" for an increase in electricity rates. Ms. Zellner urged the Commission to focus on the affordability of any rate increase on the ability of poor ratepayers to maintain a warm home during the winter.<sup>60</sup>

29. The following comments were made at the May 7, 2025 hearing held in Apple Valley:<sup>61</sup>

- Larry Moehring asked about the overall increase in Dakota Electric's operating costs since 2019 and about the Cooperative's return on investment. He commented on Dakota Electric's "incredible" service level.<sup>62</sup>
- Bill Laramy, Inver Grove Heights, asked questions about residential service increases versus general service increases and discussed why he believed general service consumers may have more flexibility to absorb a larger rate increase compared to residential consumers on fixed incomes.<sup>63</sup>

- Hillary Swanson, Apple Valley, asked about interim rates now in effect and how they would operate as a presumptive set of future rates that could go still higher. She likewise asked for additional details about the disputes over the company's claimed amounts for long-term capital investments and organizational dues. She also asked about long-term investments, specific increases for labor and vehicle costs, and about how the Cooperative's membership dues were factored into rates.<sup>64</sup>
- Jan Miller, Apple Valley, discussed and asked questions regarding the Office of the Attorney General's proposal. She requested that the presentation slides be sent to members and asked about the number of senior citizens served by the Cooperative. She also requested for clarification around rate adjustments and the role of the public in a rate case. Ms. Miller urged the Cooperative to analyze the impact of parallel rises in telephone and natural gas rates on Dakota Electric's customers and to share more of the company's cost analyses in its newsletter, Circuits.<sup>65</sup>
- Brian Rogers asked about capital expenses, special projects, and how Dakota Electric's rates compared to other utilities. He acknowledged that company expenses were increasing but noted that the increase was large. He inquired whether more regular, gradual rate increases could be pursued to avoid a sudden increase. Mr. Rogers was complimentary of both the public hearing process and Dakota Electric's service – which he characterized as “outstanding” with “very few electrical issues.” While not disputing the company's claims to higher service costs since 2019, he questioned whether an 11% rise in a single year is best for ratepayers, as opposed to phased-in increases.<sup>66</sup>
- Jodi Rogers recommended that the Cooperative be clearer about communicating the residential rate increase, rather than describing the averaged rate increase across all customer classes, which does not represent the full impact on residents. She questioned how taxes and downstream political organizations impact the requested rate increase. She also asked about notices and requested they continue to be provided to members on paper. Ms. Rogers urged the company to more clearly make the distinction between the rate increases proposed for residential customers as opposed to the rate proposals for commercial ratepayers. She also inquired as to the proposed amounts for resource and tax adjustments and organizational dues.<sup>67</sup>

- Bobbie Halling, while complimentary of the Cooperative's responsiveness in repairing storm-damaged poles and transformers, inquired about plans for future undergrounding of utility infrastructure as a protection against future outages.<sup>68</sup>
- Elizabeth Nermoe, from Apple Valley, shared her experiences trying to keep her electric bill lower through conservation and her concerns about the rate increase. She also asked questions about the rate case process before discussing the notice of the hearing. More specifically, she expressed concern over the impact of the rate increases on poorer ratepayers. She encouraged the Commission to explore a rate structure that substituted a one-time charge sum to cover the company's higher costs, over recovering the revenue deficiency through higher monthly rates.<sup>69</sup>

30. Four commenters spoke at the Rosemount Public Hearing held on May 7, 2025:<sup>70</sup>

- Linda Johnson expressed skepticism on the likely savings and returns for ratepayers from investments in solar power and wind power alternatives. She stated that solar farms had been represented to save money for members but that she doubted that had occurred and did not believe members were receiving savings from solar. She also communicated her hope that Great River Energy would not invest in wind and questioned how the renewable energy sources impacted the wholesale price of electricity for the Cooperative.<sup>71</sup> Later in the hearing, she noted that prices will never go back down.<sup>72</sup>
- Andrew Wegener, Eagan, expressed his disappointment as to how the Resource and Tax Adjustment (RTA) charge is, and is not, reflected in the notices on proposed rate changes. He was critical of what he regarded as a lack of transparency on the true rates that would follow the ratemaking proceeding. Specifically, he noted that the 2025 increase in the RTA became effective early in 2025, but after the notices on the proposed rate changes were approved by the Commission, thus concealing the true increases that are (potentially) faced by the association's ratepayers.<sup>73</sup>

- Whitney Farra shared her concerns around data centers and the infrastructure increases that would be needed to serve them and how the cost of these increased energy needs would be distributed. She stated that it is important to account for where the demand for energy is coming from and asked what studies were done to make sure community members are being accounted for as decisions are made. She urged the Commission to look closely at the tariff regarding the acceptance of service from very large customers (like data centers) and the additional infrastructure expenses of the Cooperative that ratepayers might bear in order to provide electricity to large, industrial scale customers<sup>74</sup>
- Kim Bauer asked when a decision about the rate increase would be made.<sup>75</sup>

B. Written Public Comments Submitted to the Docket

31. Twenty-six individuals filed at least one comment in the docket. These public comments shared experiences, voiced concerns, asked questions, and requested the Commission focus on specific issues. Almost all comments opposed a rate increase or recommended a lower increase. Commenters shared concerns about Dakota Electric's Board of Director's expenses including the disclosure of those expenses.<sup>76</sup> Written comments called the rate increase "excessive,"<sup>77</sup> and shared concerns about how customers were benefiting from the additional revenue from the proposed increase.<sup>78</sup> A few commenters acknowledged the Cooperative facing rising costs and that rate increases are "occasionally necessary."<sup>79</sup>

32. Customers' written comments also stated concerns around the Cooperative's transparency regarding the proposed rate increase.<sup>80</sup> Multiple commenters shared their concern about the burden placed on low-income customers and customers living on fixed incomes, including social security.<sup>81</sup> One commenter shared that he felt the Cooperative was asking middle-class users to accept a rate hike that exceeds both their annual wage increases and the general rise in living expenses.<sup>82</sup> Commenters also voiced concern about customers' lack of flexibility around energy use during peak periods.<sup>83</sup> Some commenters questioned the Cooperative's justification for the increase.<sup>84</sup> Others suggested ways to improve communications to members to improve transparency.<sup>85</sup> Further comments raised concerns about the mathematics, formulas, and the accuracy of what was shared with customers.<sup>86</sup> One commenter felt that investments in energy efficiency measures did not result in customer energy savings on bills.<sup>87</sup>

33. Written comments received are specifically summarized below:

- Jon Derik Dautel, Lakeville, expressed disappointment that following the submission of the rate increase, the Cooperative announced plans for construction of a new $90 million headquarters building. He projects that the construction expense will add an additional 5% increase to the next rate increase request. He maintains that the Cooperative's disclosures "show little effort to reduce expenses." He favors a policy that would insist upon more gradual rises in electricity rates.<sup>88</sup>
- Andy Wegener, supplemented his May 1, 2025, testimony at the Rosemount Public Hearing, with additional detail as to the likely impact of increases in the RTA on future electricity rates. In his view, the failure of the company to include this detail in the notices remitted in this proceeding, does not meet "the membership notification requirements set by the [Commission]."<sup>89</sup>
- James Grams, Eagan, expressed concern over the proposed rate on families facing economic hardship and few alternative options for electricity. He urged the Commission to “think of ways to reduce expenses before raising our rates 11%.”<sup>90</sup>

- Shannon Connor, Lakeville, urged the Commission to protect seniors from additional rate hikes – particularly after the recent increases in the fixed monthly charge. She urged the Commission to closely scrutinize the compensation arrangements for the Cooperative’s and Board Members, and other measures to “cut fat,” before increasing retail electricity rates.<sup>91</sup>
- David Sutliff, Eagan, expressed concern that, notwithstanding his strides in using less electricity each month, his electricity bill continues to rise. He attributes the increases to the costs of expanding the Cooperative’s service to reach new customers; costs that he maintains should be borne by the new arrivals who are benefitting from the service.<sup>92</sup>
- Karen Schmitt states that the proposed rate increase of 11% is “out of line” with recent cost of living increases – which she maintains is closer to 4% for 2025. She maintains that such increases, which will be difficult for her to meet, will be worse for customers who are less fortunate than her.<sup>93</sup>
- Mary Nell Zellner, Eagan, urged the Commission to either reject or table the proposed rate increase. She maintained that the request is insufficiently supported by needed detail and that the size of the increase was more than the raises working families within the Cooperative’s service area will receive in 2025. At most, she argues that a 5% increase in rates should be considered; a figure that follows the Bureau of Labor Statistics’ reporting on local wage growth.<sup>94</sup>
- Beverly Hueffmeier, Eagan, opposes the proposed rate increase on the grounds that it will pose a hardship to middle-income customers within the Association’s service territory. She urges consideration of a more modest increases – “perhaps 3% to 4%.”<sup>95</sup>
- Jonathan Morrison, Burnsville, opposes the proposed rate increase on the grounds that it operates as transfer of wealth from lower-income customers to upper-income ratepayers. He argues that the rise in the Cooperative's capacity-related system costs follow from incentives to purchase of electric vehicles. These vehicles, he continues, draw a lot of energy from the electricity grid and is a purchase option that is only available to upper-income Minnesotans. He regards a proposed increase to meet the needs of wealthy consumers as regressive and unfair.<sup>96</sup>

- Dan Reitemeier, Apple Valley, opposes the proposed rate increase on the grounds that it is both "disproportionate" to residential ratepayers and small businesses and understates the still larger increase that will be passed on to residential customers. He projects that the true amount of the proposed rate increase is 13% to 14%, and not 11%, for residential customers.<sup>97</sup>
- Chris Robison, Apple Valley, urged the Commission to make clear how the requested $23.8 million in additional annual revenue will benefit ratepayers.<sup>98</sup>
- Debra Benson, maintains that the proposed 11% increase in rates is "completely unreasonable." She posits that an increase of half that amount might be "community friendly."<sup>99</sup>
- Erik Peterman, Eagan, urges the Commission to reject the application for a proposed rate increase as a signal to the Association that it "needs to operate within their budget like any other company."<sup>100</sup>
- Kelly Sax, Eagan, urged the Commission to reject the proposed increase. She maintains that the proposal would harm financially strapped ratepayers to provide company executives with higher pay. She characterizes the proposal as "selfish, greedy and unnecessary."<sup>101</sup>
- Margaret Svien, Farmington, recommends that the Commission reject the proposed rate increase on the grounds that, when new fee increases are added to the rate, her monthly electricity bill will rise by 42%. Additionally, she maintains that Cooperative board members

- Sharon Welch, Apple Valley, opposes the proposed rate increase as “excessive” and unfair to ordinary consumers. She urges the Commission to closely scrutinize the claimed bases for the requested increase.<sup>103</sup>
- Madeline Baird, Welch, opposes the proposed increase in the fixed monthly charge as unjustified and part of an effort to recoup monies the Cooperative has lost through the rise of rooftop solar systems and popularity of net metering. She expresses concern about rate decisions discouraging the adoption of solar energy alternatives.<sup>104</sup>
- Robert Hansberry, opposes the proposed rate increase, characterizing it as “excessive.” He urges the Commission to approve “half this amount, or 6.5%.”<sup>105</sup>
- Robert Trier, asks the Commission to “protect the consumer” by insisting upon the company’s “management to cut costs,” instead of raising electricity rates.<sup>106</sup>
- Gerald Brown, Apple Valley, maintains that the expenses incurred by the company’s Board of Directors is not publicly available or accessible to ratepayers. He asserts that “[e]xpenses and costs need transparency, and this is not the case.”<sup>107</sup>
- Tamera Wimbley, argues that Germany’s experience with renewable energy projects has resulted in poor performance and an energy program that is overly “expensive, chaotic and unfair. . . .” She urges the Commission to press for the licensing and deployment of additional nuclear power resources, which she maintains are more reliable and cost-effective than wind and solar resources.<sup>108</sup>
- Drea Doffing expresses concern that the proposed rate increases are a pretext for preparing the company to serve large data centers, projects which benefit wealthy developers but not local ratepayers.<sup>109</sup>

V. The Settlement

34. As detailed in the Settlement, the Parties were able to resolve all issues in the case.<sup>111</sup> The Settlement summarizes the Parties' positions on each of their applicable issues and explains each issue's resolution. The Settlement needs little explanation, as reviewing the Parties' positions and comparing party positions to the terms of the Settlement indicates the compromises that the Parties made to achieve an overall Settlement.

35. The Administrative Law Judge has reviewed the Settlement and recommends that the Commission find it to be in the public interest and supported by substantial evidence in the record. The rates that will result from implementing the Settlement will be just and reasonable.

36. The Administrative Law Judge finds the Settlement to be comprehensive and each disputed issue is reasonably resolved based on substantial record evidence. The Administrative Law Judge recommends that the Commission approve the Settlement and highlights the following factors for the Commission's consideration.

37. First, the Settlement provides for a gross revenue deficiency of $20.881 million or 9.62% increase, compared to the $23.812 million or 11% increase requested in the Cooperative's Application.<sup>112</sup>

38. Second, regarding revenue apportionment, the Settlement provides for a revenue apportionment with class-specific increases that results in a more moderate increase for the Residential and Small General Service classes than initially proposed by Dakota Electric,<sup>113</sup> addressing concerns from public commenters about the size of the proposed Residential increase.

39. Third, the Settlement is informed by, but does not endorse, any single CCOSS.<sup>114</sup> In some recent general rate case proceedings, the Commission has preferred to consider multiple CCOSSs rather than to base cost classification and allocation upon a single CCOSS.

40. Fourth, the Settlement's proposed return on equity, overall cost of capital, and overall return on rate base are 3.69%, 3.60%, and 5.14%. These rates adopt the Department's recommended adjustments to Dakota Electric's initial proposal and are based on the actual 2023 historical capital structure, which are reasonable and supported by the record.<sup>115</sup>

41. Fifth, other disputed financial issues are resolved in a transparent, just, and reasonable manner. These include the test year compensation expense, employee gifts and awards, benefits expense, and utility service and fee revenues. The Settlement adopts multiple financial adjustments based on testimony filed by the Department and the OAG.<sup>116</sup> As part of settlement discussions, Dakota Electric provided additional support for its test year compensation expense and Minnesota Rural Electric Association (MREA) dues, and that additional information was included in attachments to the Settlement Agreement.<sup>117</sup>

42. Sixth, as part of the Settlement, Dakota Electric agreed to work with interested parties to develop modifications to its current policy requiring Residential members to pay a deposit in addition to the reconnection fee before reconnecting a member who has been disconnected for nonpayment.<sup>118</sup>

43. Seventh, as part of the Settlement, Dakota Electric agreed to notify the Commission through a letter filing in this docket if it adds 50 MW or more of data center load before its next general rate case filing.<sup>119</sup>

44. Eighth, Dakota Electric also agreed, as part of the Settlement, to file its plan to educate members on the new Electric Vehicle (EV) peak hours as a compliance filing in this docket.<sup>120</sup>

45. Ninth, as part of the Settlement, the Cooperative agreed that going forward, it would either confirm charitable contributions are made to entities that are registered in accordance with Minn. Stat. Ch. 309 or that the charity is exempt from registration with the Minnesota Attorney General's Office before seeking rate recovery of such contributions.<sup>121</sup>

46. Tenth, Dakota Electric agreed that in future rate cases it will exclude alcoholic beverage expenses from test year recovery.<sup>122</sup>

47. Finally, the Settlement resolves the miscellaneous tariff modifications proposed by Dakota Electric, which were generally not disputed.<sup>123</sup>

VI. Specific Issues

48. The Notice of and Order for Hearing requested that the Parties develop a full record addressing the proposed revenue increase, rate of return, rate design, capital structure, and reasons for significant changes in various categories of costs since the Cooperative's last rate case in 2019.<sup>124</sup> The Settlement is supported by the Parties' evaluation of the issues referred by the Commission through its Notice of and Order for Hearing and by substantial evidence in the record. The Settlement includes citations to relevant record evidence supporting the proposed resolution of the issues referred by the Commission.

49. The Settlement reduces the test year rate increase from $23.8 million per year (as requested in the Cooperative's Application) to $20.881 million per year.<sup>125</sup>

50. The Settlement modifies the rate design proposed by the Cooperative by reducing the Residential and Small General Service class revenue increases and adopting a more moderate increase to the Residential and Farm Service fixed monthly customer charges.<sup>126</sup>

51. The Settlement adopts Dakota Electric's 2023 historical capital structure to calculate the Cooperative's required return on equity, overall cost of capital, and overall return on rate base.<sup>127</sup> The actual 2023 equity ratio is 58.61%, and the actual debt ratio is 41.39%, resulting in test year return on equity, overall cost of capital, and overall return on rate base of 3.69%, 3.60%, and 5.14%.<sup>128</sup>

52. The Parties' pre-filed testimony developed a complete record supporting changes in Dakota Electric's revenues and costs since the Cooperative's last rate case. Through testimony, Dakota Electric discussed the impacts of the Covid-19 pandemic and associated supply chain and inflationary pressure on the cost of operations.<sup>129</sup> As part of settlement discussions, Dakota Electric provided additional support for its test year compensation expense, which is included as an attachment to the Settlement. Further, the Settlement reflects specific financial reductions to Dakota Electric's proposed revenue increase in a number of areas.<sup>130</sup>

VII. General Provisions of the Settlement

53. The Settlement provides for the confidentiality of settlement offers and discussions. Should the Commission reject the Settlement, the agreement provides that it shall not be part of the record and that no party may use it for any purpose in any proceeding.<sup>131</sup>

54. The Settlement obligates the Parties to support and defend it in its entirety without modification.<sup>132</sup>

55. Should the Commission remand the case to the CAH, the Parties are free to argue their positions as set forth in their pre-filed testimony.<sup>133</sup>

Based on these Stipulated Findings of Fact, the Administrative Law Judge makes the following:

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

1. The Minnesota Public Utilities Commission and the Administrative Law Judge have jurisdiction to consider this matter pursuant to Minn. Stat. §§ 14.50, 14.57, and 216B.01-.82 (2024). Minn. Stat. §§ 216B.01 and 216B.026 provide for regulation of cooperative electric associations if the members elect to become subject to rate regulation by the Commission.

2. The public and the Parties received timely and proper notice of the public hearings. The Commission and Dakota Electric complied with all procedural requirements under applicable statutes and rules.

3. Every rate set by the Commission shall be just and reasonable. Rates shall not be unreasonably preferential, prejudicial, or discriminatory, but shall be sufficient, equitable, and consistent in application to a class of consumers. The Commission shall set rates that, to the maximum reasonable extent, encourage energy conservation and renewable energy use and further the goals of Minn. Stat. §§ 216B.164, 216B.241, 216C.05 (2024).

4. The burden of proof is on the public utility to show that a rate change is just and reasonable.<sup>134</sup>

5. Minnesota law expressly encourages the settlement of “any or all of the issues” in rate cases.<sup>135</sup> The Commission reviews a settlement in a rate case proceeding to determine if it is in the public interest and supported by substantial evidence.<sup>136</sup>

6. The record supports the resolution of disputed issues as set out in the Settlement. The Settlement’s disposition of disputed issues resolves them in a manner consistent with the public interest and on the basis of the substantial evidence, as articulated by the Parties in the Settlement.<sup>137</sup> The Administrative Law Judge relies heavily upon the Parties' ability to represent their respective interests and their decision to settle this case, as set forth above.

7. Rates set in accordance with the Settlement appear to be just and reasonable, based upon the representations of the parties.

8. The proposed changes in tariff provisions, as provided in the Settlement, appear to be reasonable and should be approved.

9. Any Findings of Fact more properly designated as Conclusions of Law are hereby adopted as such.

Based upon these Conclusions of Law, the Administrative Law Judge makes the following:

RECOMMENDATION

The Administrative Law Judge recommends that the Commission review and approve the Settlement and incorporate it into its Order.

NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that exceptions to this Report, if any, by any party adversely affected must be filed under the timeframes established in the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, Minn. R. 7829.2700, .3100 (2023), unless otherwise directed by the Commission. Exceptions should be specific and stated and numbered separately. Oral argument before a majority of the Commission will be permitted pursuant to Minn. R. 7829.2700, subp. 3 (2023). <sup>137</sup> Because this matter settled before the evidentiary hearing in this case and before the deadline to file responsive testimony, the Administrative Law Judge has not reviewed all the evidence that could have been presented in this case.

The Commission may, at its own discretion, accept, modify, or reject the Administrative Law Judge's recommendations. The recommendations of the Administrative Law Judge have no legal effect unless expressly adopted by the Commission as its final order.
