RE: Comments of the Minnesota Department of Commerce, Division of Energy Resources
Docket No. E999/M-13-402

Dear Dr. Haar:

Attached are the comments of the Minnesota Department of Commerce, Division of Energy Resources (Department) in the following matter:

2013 Biennial Transmission Projects Report.

The petition was filed on November 1, 2013. The petitioner is:

Alan R. Mitchell
Fredrikson & Byron, P.A.
200 South Sixth Street, #4000
Minneapolis, MN 55402-1425

The Department recommends approval with reporting requirements. The Department is available to answer any questions the Minnesota Public Utilities Commission may have.

Sincerely,

BEFORE THE MINNESOTA PUBLIC UTILITIES COMMISSION

COMMENTS OF THE
MINNESOTA DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE
DIVISION OF ENERGY RESOURCES

DOCKET NO. E999/M-13-402

I. INTRODUCTION

On November 1, 2013 the Minnesota Transmission Owners (MTO) submitted to the Minnesota Public Utilities Commission (Commission) MTO's 2013 Biennial Transmission Projects Report (Report). MTO is a coalition of sixteen electric utilities that own or operate high voltage transmission facilities in Minnesota.¹ The Petition provides a review of MTO's transmission planning activities. Northwestern Wisconsin Electric Company (NWEC) did not file a biennial transmission report.²

The Report does not seek a certificate of need. Therefore, pursuant to Minnesota Rules 7848.1800 subpart 3 and the Commission's November 4, 2011 Notice of Comment Periods and Deadlines, comments on the Report's compliance with the filing requirements (Minnesota Rules 7848.1300) were due November 21, 2013 while comments on the merits of the Report are due January 15, 2014 and reply comments are due March 3, 2014.

² On October 22, 2009 Northwestern Wisconsin Electric Company (NWEC) filed NWEC's Transmission Projects Biennial Report (TPBR). The TPBR states "NWEC owns approximately three miles of 69kV transmission line and a portion of a 230kV substation."

On November 21, 2013, comments on compliance with the filing requirements were filed by the Minnesota Department of Commerce, Division of Energy Resources (Department). MTO filed supplemental data December 9, 2013.

Below are the comments of the Department on the merits of the Report.

II. ANALYSIS OF PLANNING ACTIVITIES

A. NWEC

NWEC did not submit a biennial transmission plan. Given the limited nature of NWEC's Minnesota transmission system as referenced in the footnote above, the Department has no comments regarding NWEC.

B. MTO

1. Existing Transmission Issues

The first step in maintaining a reliable transmission system is to address areas where the current transmission system cannot provide reliable service. Department Information Request No. 3 requested MTO to list the areas where historical demand had been greater than the supply capability after a single contingency occurs. In response, MTO listed 7 areas as follows:

1. 2003-NE-N3: Savanna Project
2. 2011-NE-N1: Rebuild 9 Line
3. 2011-NE-N8: Upgrade 18 Line
4. 2011-NE-N9: Verndale Transformer Capacity
5. 2011-TC-N15: Westgate 115-69 kV
6. 2013-NE-N21 Verndale – Hubbard 115 kV
7. 2013-NE-N22 Osage Area 115 kV

In the list above, the year indicates when the issue first arose in the biennial plan. Department Information Request No. 4 requested MTO to provide an estimated date by which reliability would be restored to each of the above areas. In response MTO indicated that reliability would be restored as follows:

- 1 issue by fourth quarter 2014 (2011-NE-N8);
- 2 issues by second quarter 2015 (2003-NE-N3, 2011-NE-N1)
- 2 issues in 2015 (2011-NE-N9, 2011-TC-N15)
- 1 issue in 2018 (2013-NE-N21)
- 1 issue in 2020 (2013-NE-N22)

As indicated in the Department’s comments in prior transmission planning dockets, the Department expects that transmission deficiencies will exist for a variety of reasons that are beyond MTO members’ control. In this case five of the seven issues will be fixed within the next two years (by year-end 2015).

Deficiency 2003-NE-N3: Savanna Project (MTEP #2634) was also identified in the 2011 Biennial Transmission Report. In that report the Savanna Project deficiency was expected to be resolved by the end of 2013; in the current report the deficiency is now expected to be resolved by the second quarter of 2015. The Department requests that Minnesota Power provide an explanation for the two year delay in resolving this deficiency.

2. Forecasted Transmission Issues

An early step in addressing forecasted inadequacies is to obtain the necessary permits. In order to monitor MTO’s progress in terms of obtaining necessary permits, Department Information Request No. 2 requested MTO to provide a schedule with estimated dates for the submission of certificate of need (CN) applications for situations where MTO has a potential solution and that potential solution may require a CN. MTO’s response is summarized below in Table 1. Table 1 shows the schedule of estimated filing dates for CN applications for the projects. Some projects reported by MTO are dependent upon CNs already under review or already approved by the Commission. These projects are not included in Table 1.

Table 1: Schedule of Certificates of Need

Tracking Number	Project	Estimated Filing Date	Responding Utility
no tracking number	Clearbrook Solway 115 kV	March 2015	OTP
2007-NW-N3	Winger Thief River Falls 230 kV	March 2016	OTP
2007-TC-N4	Arsenal Development	2015	Xcel
2009-WC-N6	Orrock 345/115 kV	May 2017	GRE
2013-NE-N21	Verndale – Hubbard 115 kV	May 2014	GRE/MP
2013-NE-N22	Osage Area 115 kV	May 2016	GRE
2013-SW-N3	Freeborn –Glenworth 161 kV	2014/2015	ITC

Table 1 shows that MTO’s members plan to submit 4 CN petitions by the end of 2015. This data indicates that MTO’s members are pursuing required permits in a timely manner.

Numerous projects were reported as potentially requiring a CN but not yet having a filing date estimated. These projects are shown in Table 2 below.

Table 2: Potential Certificates of Need

Tracking Number	Project	Estimated Filing Date	Responding Utility
2003-NE-N6	Taconite Harbor-Grand Marais Area	Indefinite timeline	GRE
2003-WC-N8	Douglas-Paynesville-Wakefield-West St. Cloud Area	Indefinite timeline	GRE
2005-SE-N4	Dodge County Wind	Dependent on wind farm MISO interconnection; interconnection petition recently withdrawn	Xcel
2007-NE-N1	Duluth Area 230 kV	2017, if needed	MP
2009-NE-N4	Brainerd Lakes-Remer-Deer River Area	Indefinite timeline	GRE
2009-NE-N6	Staples-Motley-Long Prairie Area	Indefinite timeline	GRE
2009-NE-N11	Rush City-Cambridge-Princeton-Milaca Area	Indefinite timeline	GRE
2009-TC-N5	Scott County-Carver County-New Prague	Indefinite timeline	GRE
2011-NE-N13	MH-MP 230 kV Line	Alternative to Great Northern Transmission 500 kW line	MP
2011-NE-N11	Savanna 230 kV Expansion	Delayed Indefinitely	MP

The Department briefly reviewed MTO’s discussion for the projects listed in Table 2. One potential concern is with projects reported by GRE. GRE reports the same statement for each of the following projects “This project has been delayed indefinitely due to drop in load growth.” Two projects have additional discussion, which is included in brackets below:

1. 2003-NE-N6—Taconite Harbor-Grand Marais 69 kV rebuild;
2. 2009-NE-N4—Macville-Blind Lake 115 kV and Macville 230/115 kV substation;
3. 2009-NE-N6—Shamaineau Lake 115 kV Substation and 115 kV line;
4. 2009-NE-N11—Rush City-Milaca 230 kV line and Dalbo 230/69 kV source;
5. 2003-WC-N8—Alexandria-West St. Cloud 115 kV line [ALSO: CapX Fargo-Monticello may alter this project significantly]; and
6. 2009-TC-N5—Carver County-Belle Plaine 115 kV line. [ALSO: Xcel Energy's Sheas Lake project may delay the need of this project, although portions of the line may need to be rebuilt due to age].

In its 2011 Biennial Transmission Report Supplemental Comments (Docket No. E999/M-11-445) the Department recommended that GRE provide the critical load level and at least three years’ peak load data for inadequacies with an indefinite filing date timeline due to a drop in load; these inadequacies included tracking numbers 2003-NE-N6, 2009-NE-N4, 2009-NE-N11, and 2003-WC-N8 listed in Table 2. GRE did not provide this information in the current Report.

The Department recommends that, for the above six projects, GRE provide a chart showing the critical load level and the drop in load growth. GRE should also indicate how quickly GRE can complete each of the projects once load growth returns. Such data will enable the Department and Commission to be sure that GRE is maintaining a reliable system.

C. TRANSMISSION FOR RENEWABLES

The Report also contains a section regarding Minnesota's Renewable Energy Standard (RES Report) in compliance with Minnesota Statutes §216B.2425, subd. 7. The RES Report is a joint effort separate from that of MTO but containing many of the same utilities.³ Minnesota Statutes §216B.2425, subd. 7 governing the RES Report states:

Each entity subject to this section shall determine necessary transmission upgrades to support development of renewable energy resources required to meet objectives under section 216B.1691 and shall include those upgrades in its report under subdivision 2.

In compliance with this statute, the RES Report starts with a gap analysis which provides “an estimate of how many more megawatts of renewable generating capacity a utility expects to need beyond what is presently available to obtain the required amount of renewable energy.” The RES Report shows that utilities subject to the Minnesota RES have sufficient capacity acquired to meet the Minnesota RES needs through 2025. When adding the RES needs of other jurisdictions (outside of Minnesota) the Minnesota RES utilities have enough capacity to meet RES needs through 2020. Thus it appears that significant additional transmission investment is not required in the near future. However, the total net shortage in 2025 is approximately 1100 MW according to the chart on page 116 of the RES Report.

Regarding the projected future shortage, the RES Utilities note that, in its May 18, 2012, Order, the Commission directed the MTO to provide an update on the Corridor Upgrade Project. The Corridor Upgrade Project is an upgrade of the 230 kV line between the Hazel Creek Substation near Granite Falls, Minnesota, and the Blue Lake Substation in Shakopee, Minnesota to a double circuit 345 kV system. The Corridor Upgrade would provide significant new transmission capacity from the Dakotas, southwestern Minnesota and western Minnesota to the Twin Cities, at a cost estimated in 2009 to be approximately $350 million.

³ The utilities sponsoring the RES Report are: Interstate Power and Light Company, Minnesota Power, Northern States Power Company, Otter Tail Power Company, Dairyland Power Cooperative, Basin Electric Power Cooperative, East River Electric Power Cooperative, Great River Energy, L&O Power Cooperative, Minnkota Power Cooperative, Central Minnesota Municipal Power Agency, Minnesota Municipal Power Agency, Rochester Public Utilities, Southern Minnesota Municipal Power Agency, Western Minnesota Municipal Power Agency/Missouri River Energy Services, and Heartland Consumers Power District (jointly RES Utilities).

Because of the addition of the MISO Multi-Value Project (MVP) Group 1 portfolio of projects, which were approved by the MISO board of directors in December 2011, the RES Utilities concluded that the need for the Corridor Upgrade project has likely moved out past the 2016-2018 timeframe previously assumed.

Based upon this information the Department agrees with the RES Utilities that immediate action regarding the Corridor Upgrade Project is not necessary.

D. SOLAR ENERGY STANDARD

In 2013, the Minnesota Legislature established a solar energy standard (SES) for public utilities, effective by the end of 2020. Minn. Laws 2013, Ch. 85, § 3, codified at Minnesota Statutes § 216B.1691, subd. 2f (Solar energy standard), establish a solar energy standard at 1.5 percent of a utility’s retail sales by the end of 2020.

That statute requires public utilities subject to the SES to report to the Commission on July 1, 2014, and each July thereafter, on progress in achieving the standard. Table 3 includes Xcel’s analysis of its anticipated needs for solar energy in future years in addition to Xcel’s needs for the RES requirements.⁴

Table 3. Xcel’s MN RES, Non-MN RES, and SES Forecast (MW)

	2014		2016		2020		2025
	MN	Non-MN	MN	Non-MN	MN	Non-MN	MN	Non-MN
RES	1,615	179	2,315	386	2,862	406	2,920	424
SES					269		274
TOTAL	1,615	170	2,315	386	3,131	406	3,194	424

The solar energy standard includes a 10 percent small facility (less than 20 kW) carve out. With this carve out, and the creation of community solar gardens (Minnesota Statutes § 216B.1641), it is reasonable to expect that many of the solar projects coming online by 2020 will be small relative to other generation projects (likely less than 1 MW). Efficiently integrating new solar projects on the distribution and transmission systems will be critical to the success of new solar laws. The Department recommends that the MTO utilities subject to the SES describe in reply comments how they plan to integrate the increasing number of solar energy projects that are anticipated to be developed to comply with the SES.

E. RENEWABLE ENERGY INTEGRATION STUDY

The 2013 Minnesota Legislature directed Minnesota transmission owners to study the reliability and cost implications of increasing the renewable energy standard to 40 percent by 2030. The Commission’s July 22, 2013 Order described the background for this study as follows:

⁴ This information is also presented on page 118 of the Report.

Minnesota Laws 2013, Chapter 85, Article 12, Section 4(a) directs the Commission to order all electric utilities as defined in Minn. Stat. § 216B.1691, subd. 1(b), and all transmission companies as defined in Minn. Stat. § 216B.02, to conduct an engineering study of the impacts on reliability and costs, including necessary transmission network upgrades, of increasing the renewable energy standard established in Minn. Stat. § 216B.1691, subd. 2a, to 40 percent by 2030, and to higher proportions thereafter, while maintaining system reliability. The Act requires the study to be completed and submitted to the Commission by November 1, 2014.

Section 4(b) of the Act requires Minnesota electric utilities and transmission companies to complete the study under the direction of the commissioner of the Department of Commerce (the commissioner).

Section 4(c) of the Act requires electric utilities and transmission companies to incorporate and build upon current and previous studies conducted in Minnesota of relevance to the Renewable Energy Standard. As part of the planning process, the electric utilities and transmission companies are also required to collaborate with the Midcontinent Independent System Operator (MISO), to encourage the integration of Minnesota's planning work and other regional considerations into MISO's future transmission expansion planning work.

Finally, the study is required to include a conceptual plan for the transmission necessary for generation interconnection and delivery. The report must include a description of the analyses conducted and the results obtained, and must identify any critical issues and potential solutions to identified issues as they pertain to increasing the renewable energy standard to 40 percent by 2030.

To date, the Department met on September 13, 2013 with utility and MISO transmission engineers and management, along with all those who had indicated an interest in this issue. On September 26, 2013, the Commissioner of Commerce appointed a technical review committee, which has been developing the technical analysis and is on track to provide the analysis to the Commission by November 1, 2014.

F. MITIGATION COSTS

As utilities have been building more infrastructure and more significantly sized infrastructure, it has become increasingly necessary to ensure that utilities use cost discipline as they construct new resources. To encourage cost discipline and prevent ratepayers from paying more than is reasonable for new utility infrastructure, the Department and Commission have been holding utilities accountable by comparing the utilities' estimated costs of a project as proposed in a CN proceeding to the actual cost of the project requested in a rate recovery proceeding. At a minimum, a utility must justify any cost recovery above the amount the utility originally indicated that the project would cost. This requirement is an important tool to ensure that cost discipline is maintained throughout the regulatory process. The presence of cost discipline is important to ensure the accuracy of cost estimates used in planning proceedings such as resource plans and the biennial transmission plan. Such cost estimates are used to make significant decisions so it is important to minimize errors in estimation to avoid poor decisions and higher system costs.

Due to significant additions in infrastructure expected now and in the future, the Department concludes that additional measures are necessary to help ensure that costs charged to ratepayers for upgrades to the electric system are reasonable. Further, it is important to ensure that decisions made by a utility in response to local governments reasonably consider cost implications and that costs of upgrades are allocated appropriately to ratepayers, based on ratemaking principles such as cost-causation, cost minimization and administrative feasibility. When utilities install infrastructure in an area, there are always mitigation measures involved. So long as the costs of such measures are reasonable, prudent and relatively small in size, it is generally reasonable to allow the costs to be borne by all ratepayers.⁵ However, when a mitigation measure is not needed for electrical purposes and is significant in size, it is important to consider whether the costs should be allocated to the entire rate base or to a smaller group of customers, based on the entity requesting such enhancement or optional mitigation. An example of such a mitigation measure is undergrounding transmission facilities for aesthetic reasons. Because such options increase costs not only of installation but also ongoing maintenance of the facilities, and because the beneficiaries of such designs can be limited to local ratepayers, application of the principle of cost-causation results in charging the incremental costs of optional undergrounding to those who benefit. Application of the cost-causation principle is important because, if such optional mitigation costs are consistently allocated to the entire rate base, an incentive is created to increase project costs as through the permitting processes.

To assess this issue further, the Department recommends that the Commission require the rate-regulated electric utilities – Otter Tail Power Company, Minnesota Power, and Xcel – to provide the following information in future rate requests to recover the costs of new energy facilities:

⁵ It would not be administratively feasible or desirable to tailor rates in each area of Minnesota to reflect incremental costs of all optional mitigation measures in the area.

- a summary of all mitigation measures that have been added at any step in the permitting process,
- the general reason for the mitigation measure, including whether the measure was requested or required,
- the entity requesting or requiring the mitigation, and
- the cost of the mitigation measure.

This list should include data regarding mitigation measures that the utilities undertook voluntarily. Such data will enable cost allocations to be considered in ratemaking as appropriate and in a more accurate and consistent manner. The Department also notes that these recommended reporting requirements do not in any way limit the Commission's decision-making authority but instead would better inform the Commission's decision-making process.

In addition, the Department recommends that the Commission require ITC Midwest (ITC) to submit the same information to Interstate Power and Light Company (IPL), and that IPL provide the information in future rate requests.

III. DEPARTMENT RECOMMENDATION

The Department recommends that, in reply comments:

- Minnesota Power provide an explanation for the two year delay in resolving deficiency 2003-NE-N3: Savanna Project deficiency (2003-NE-N3); and
- GRE provide a chart showing the critical load level and the drop in load growth for the six projects discussed above; and
- Utilities subject to the Solar Energy Standard describe their plans to efficiently integrate new solar projects on their distribution and transmission systems.

At this time the Department recommends that the Commission approve the Petition. Should our position change after receiving the additional information requested above, the Department will file supplemental comments.

In addition, the Department recommends that the Commission require Otter Tail Power Company, Minnesota Power, and Xcel to provide the following information in future rate requests to recover the costs of new energy facilities:

- a summary of all mitigation measures that have been added at any step in the permitting process,
- the general reason for the mitigation measure, including whether the measure was requested or required,
- the entity requesting or requiring the mitigation, and
- the cost of the mitigation measure.

This list should include data regarding mitigation measures that the utilities undertook voluntarily.

The Department recommends that the Commission require ITC Midwest (ITC) to submit the same information to Interstate Power and Light Company (IPL), and that IPL provide the information in future rate requests.
