RE: Center for Energy and Environment's Reply Comments in the Matter of a Commission Investigation into Gas Utility Resource Planning

Docket Numbers G008, G002, G011/CI-23-117, and G999/CI-21-565

Dear Mr. Seuffert,

Center for Energy and Environment (“CEE”) respectfully submits these Reply Comments to the Minnesota Public Utilities Commission (“Commission”) in response to Comments filed by Xcel Energy, CenterPoint Energy, Minnesota Energy Resources Corporation (“MERC”) (collectively “natural gas utilities”), the Minnesota Department of Commerce Division of Energy Resources (“Department”), the Office of the Attorney General, the Citizens’ Utility Board (“CUB”), the Clean Energy Organizations (“CEOs”), and the Building Decarbonization Coalition on June 28, 2024 in response to the May 7, 2024 Commission Notice of Extended Comment Period in the Matter of a Commission Investigation into Gas Utility Resource Planning (“Notice”).

CEE thanks parties for their engagement and thoughtful Comments. We found there to be broad alignment in the June 28, 2024 Comments in this docket. We focus these Reply Comments on three remaining issues:

1. The cost threshold to be applied to capacity expansion projects for the selection of projects for expansion alternatives analyses.
2. The appropriate value or data source to estimate the regulatory cost of greenhouse gas emissions.
3. Requirements for Xcel Energy’s methane emissions reporting, a reporting metric originally approved in Xcel Energy’s Performance Metrics docket.¹

Cost Threshold for the Selection of Projects for the Expansion Alternatives Analysis

In our November 30, 2023 Comments in phase one of this docket, CEE stated:

We recommend that the Commission encourage utilities to adopt a range of different project characteristics and sizes (i.e. cost) for [Expansion Alternatives Analyses], so that we can collectively learn more about how to evaluate different types of projects and what types of projects may be best-suited for a full alternatives analysis.²

In our June 28, 2024 Comments, we stated:

CEE recommends the Commission establish a cost threshold for each utility that results in a pool of projects, of different sizes and types, from which to choose projects for the Expansion Alternatives Analyses. For the initial natural gas IRPs, we recommend that the Commission require utilities to present possible expansion projects to the Gas Utility Innovation Roundtable stakeholders and collaboratively work with stakeholders to select projects for the initial Expansion Alternatives Analyses.³

We also recommended utilities consider additional factors when selecting expansion projects for an Expansion Alternatives Analysis (“EAA”), including the potential for learning, equity impacts, and emissions reductions when selecting projects for alternatives analyses. CEE continues to support this approach.

In the June 18, 2024 Gas Utility Innovation Roundtable meeting, stakeholders asked the natural gas utilities to provide the number of distribution system projects conducted over a five-year lookback period at and above a $1 million, $3 million, $5 million, $10 million, and $15 million threshold. The natural gas utilities provided that information in their June 28, 2024 Comments in this docket. CEE found the natural gas utilities’ response to stakeholders’ request to be informative, and we appreciate the utilities’ work to consolidate and provide this information so quickly.

Table 1 illustrates the number of projects at or above each of the requested cost thresholds, over a five-year lookback period, for each of the natural gas utilities, as provided in their June 28, 2024 Comments in this docket.

² P. 32 of CEE’s November 30, 2023 Comments in this docket.

³ P. 14 of CEE’s June 28, 2024 Comments in this docket.

Table 1. Capacity expansion projects implemented over a five-year lookback period, at different cost thresholds, by utility.

Utility	Project Cost Threshold
	$1m	$3m	$5m	$10m	$15m
CenterPoint Energy ⁴	15	5	4	4	4
Xcel Energy ⁵	6	4	*	*	*
MERC ⁶	6	2	2	2	1

* No information specified in initial comments

Given the relatively low numbers of projects qualifying at the lowest cost threshold ($1 million)—6, 6, and 15 projects respectively for MERC, Xcel Energy, and CenterPoint Energy—we believe that $1 million is an appropriate cost threshold for consideration for an EAA.

CEE recommends the Commission adopt the following decision option. We note that we collaborated with CUB to align on language for this recommendation. We propose replacing Order Point 51 from the Commission’s March 27, 2024 Order in this docket with the following decision option.

Integrated resource plans shall include infrastructure projects related to resource expansion or new resources at or above a $1 million threshold from which utilities select projects for an Expansion Alternatives Analysis. Utility resource plans shall include a discussion of the rationale for the projects selected for an Expansion Alternatives Analysis, and summary of the utility’s discussions with stakeholders throughout the selection process.

At the July 12, 2024 Gas Utility Innovation Roundtable, utilities noted that the number of potential infrastructure projects at different cost thresholds can vary significantly over time and that the number of projects at different cost thresholds over the past five years may not be reflective of the number of projects in a future five-year period. The utilities expressed concern about the potential workload of including project descriptions for many capital projects in their future natural gas resource plans. The Commission may wish to include a cap on the number of projects to be described and considered for an EAA for the first natural gas utility resource plans to address utilities’ concerns. If the Commission chooses to establish a cap, CEE recommends the cap be set at ten projects per utility plan.

Regulatory Cost of Greenhouse Gas Emissions

⁴ CenterPoint Energy’s June 28, 2024 Comments in this docket.

⁵ Xcel Energy’s June 28, 2024 Comments in this docket.

⁶ MERC’s June 28, 2024 Comments in this docket.

CEE believes the regulatory cost of greenhouse gas emissions is an important input to the natural gas resource planning process. Order Point 15 of the Commission's March 27, 2024 Order in this docket stated, "Utilities should address risk and uncertainty of demand, availability, and price for all resource options included in resource plans, and costs to comply with any regulation of greenhouse gas emissions."

In our June 28, 2024 Comments, CEE provided two examples of regulatory costs of greenhouse gases that could be considered for the natural gas resource planning process: the regulatory cost of carbon adopted for electric resource planning⁷ and the natural gas environmental compliance cost adopted for the cost-effectiveness in the Energy Conservation and Optimization ("ECO") program.⁸ We note that both of these values may be relevant for natural gas resource planning and are not necessarily mutually exclusive.

We look forward to reviewing utility and stakeholder feedback and comments on this issue through the Reply Comments in this docket. However, we acknowledge that there has been limited record development on this matter in the docket to date and additional stakeholder discussion beyond the current comment period may be helpful. Therefore, at this time, CEE provides a procedural recommendation that could allow for further record development on this matter without delaying the initial natural gas utility resource plans. Specifically, we recommend the Commission consider and determine the appropriate data source and values for the regulatory cost of greenhouse gas emissions for natural gas resource planning through the upcoming docket to update the regulatory cost of carbon for electric resource planning.⁹

The Commission issued an order in Docket Number E999/CI-07-1199 in December 2023 establishing the regulatory cost of carbon to be applied to electric resource planning.¹⁰ Historically, the Commission has issued an order updating the regulatory cost of carbon for electric resource planning every two years. As such, we anticipate a docket process to review and update the regulatory cost of carbon for electric resource planning with a final Commission order in late 2025. If the Commission adopts the proposed filing due date of late 2026 for the first natural gas utility resource plan, an order establishing the regulatory cost of greenhouse gases for natural gas resource planning in late 2025 would provide approximately a year for the first natural gas utility to incorporate the values into its planning process. We believe this would be sufficient time for the first natural gas utility to conduct its resource planning analysis.

⁷ Docket Number E999/CI-07-1199.

⁸ Page 252 of the March 31, 2023 Department of Commerce Decision In the Matter of 2024-2026 CIP Cost-Effectiveness Methodologies for Electric and Gas Investor-Owned Utilities in Docket Number E,G999/CIP-23-46.

⁹ Docket Number E999/CI-07-1199.

¹⁰ The Commission's December 19, 2023 Order Addressing Environmental and Regulatory Costs in Docket Numbers E999/CI-07-1199, E999/DI-22-236, and E999/CI-14-643.

Moreover, not only would this process provide for additional record development on the appropriate regulatory cost of greenhouse gas emissions for natural gas resource planning, but we also believe that there may be efficiency in discussing the appropriate regulatory costs of greenhouse gas emissions for both electric and natural gas resource planning in the same proceeding and on the same timeline and cadence.

A proposed decision option for this process is as follows:

The appropriate data source, values, and application of the regulatory cost of greenhouse gas emissions for natural gas resource planning shall be considered in Docket Number E999/CI-07-1199.

Xcel's Methane Emissions Reporting

In Commission Staff's Notice in this docket, Staff requested that parties provide input into what direction, if any, the Commission should provide to Xcel Energy regarding Xcel Energy's reporting requirement for methane emissions. Xcel Energy's methane emissions reporting requirement was originally approved in Xcel Energy's Performance Metrics docket, Docket Number E002/CI-17-401.

In its Straw Proposal, Xcel Energy recommended using recognized protocols, like the EPA's 40 CFR Part 98, Subpart W,¹¹ which applies to on- and offshore natural gas production, processing, transmission, storage, equipment, and distribution.¹² In June 28, 2024 Comments in this docket, the CEOs recommended a methane emissions reporting tool from M.J. Bradley & Associates, which consolidates several data sources to provide an estimate of full lifecycle greenhouse gas accounting.¹³

CEE recommends that the Commission require Xcel Energy to report estimates of the full fuel cycle methane emissions associated with its gas system using both the EPA and M.J. Bradley & Associates methodologies, along with any other appropriate tools Xcel Energy identifies, in their first natural gas resource plan filing. We look forward to reviewing the data and tools in Xcel Energy's first natural gas resource plan.

Comprehensive Order

We recommend that the Commission issue a comprehensive, final order in this docket that includes all the requirements and definitions adopted by the Commission, in both phase one and phase two of this docket, for natural gas resource planning in Minnesota. Issuing a final, comprehensive order that includes all natural gas planning requirements will make the process clear and more accessible to stakeholders going forward, especially stakeholders who may not have been involved in this docket to date.

Additionally, issuing a comprehensive, final order in this docket could address stakeholder confusion regarding the distribution system analysis and expansion alternatives analysis requirements of the Commission's March 27, 2024 Order (discussed in our June 28, 2024 Comments in this docket). We believe that replacing Order Point 51 from the March 27, 2024 Order with the recommended decision option above would clarify the requirements and expectations for the expansion alternatives analysis.

Conclusion

In conclusion, CEE recommends that the Commission adopt the following additional decision options.

- Integrated resource plans shall include infrastructure projects related to resource expansion or new resources at or above a $1 million threshold from which utilities select projects for an Expansion Alternatives Analysis. Utility resource plans shall include a discussion of the rationale for the projects selected for an Expansion Alternatives Analysis, and summary of the utility's discussions with stakeholders throughout the selection process.¹⁴
- The appropriate data source, values, and application of the regulatory cost of greenhouse gas emissions for natural gas resource planning shall be considered in Docket Number E999/CI-07-1199.
- Xcel Energy shall report estimates of the full fuel cycle methane emissions associated with its gas system using both the EPA and M.J. Bradley methodologies, along with any other appropriate tools the Company identifies, in their first natural gas resource plan filing.

We thank the Commission for considering our Reply Comments. Please contact me at apartridge@mncee.org with any questions.

Sincerely,

/s/ Audrey Partridge
Director of Policy
Center for Energy and Environment

¹⁴ We recommend that this proposed decision option replace Order Point 51 from the Commission's March 27, 2024 Order in this docket.
